HARRISON AND MORTON

Blaine's Forces Swing Over on the Eighth Ballot.

THE CUSTOMARY DEMONSTRATION.

Morton Nominated for Vice-President on the First Ballot—A Story of the Evening's Proceedings.

CHICAGO, June 25.—At three minutes past 11 o'clock the convention was called to order by Chairman Bates, who was again in good voice. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. Arthur Edwards of Chicago.

Boutelle of Maine arose to a question of privilege. He said that he had a point of order to make in order to except to the order of the day.

The chair said he understood the gentleman from Maine desired the privilege of making an announcement, and he was given the floor. He mounted the platform and said:

"I find myself somewhat embarrassed in being thrown into a seclusion of antagonism to the representatives of the delegation from the great Pacific slope, who have come here manifesting much devotion to the platform whose banner I have followed with pride and affection for the past many years."

"I would like, were the occasion appropriate, to do it properly in view of the country to which I am indebted for my appearance here at all, to profess the announcement I am about to make by some of the Maine representatives have been to do so. No one in this convention; no one in this magnificent auditorium has any doubt as to where the affection, devotion and allegiance of the Maine people have been, and always will be. (Applause.) No delegate here will doubt the regret with which I discharge the duty imposed upon me. But, Mr. President and gentlemen of the convention, I am under a constant which I do not feel at liberty to ignore, and without pretending to give interpretations of my own to the audience outside of the hall, I shall discharge my duty as representative of the Maine delegation by reading to you, verbatim, the following dispatch which I have received."

"At this point the galleries broke into an uproar, which was properly checked by the chairman, who requested the audience to be seated. He then read the following dispatch which I have received."

"I will read to the convention, for its information, as I have received them, these dispatches."

Boutelle then read the following brief telegram:

Earnestly request all friends to respect my Paris letter. JAMES G. BLAINE.

Blaine's dispatch was a beautiful one, and it was read with much interest. It was a letter to the convention, and it was a letter to the people of Maine. It was a letter to the people of Maine, and it was a letter to the people of Maine.

INDIANAPOLIS GOES WILD WITH DELIGHT AT THE NEWS.

A GREAT CROWD IN THE STREETS.

The Nominees Drive to His Home, and a Frenzied Excitement Prevails Throughout the City.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25.—Deep indignation was taken here in the morning at the Chicago Convention. When it became apparent that his nomination was probable, the excitement in the streets was intense. When the news of the nomination of Harrison was made public, the city was in a state of great excitement. The streets were filled with people, and the air was filled with cheering and shouting. The crowd was so large that it was impossible to move through the streets without being jostled and pushed. The excitement was so great that it was almost impossible to control the crowd. The people were so excited that they were almost hysterical. The streets were filled with people, and the air was filled with cheering and shouting. The crowd was so large that it was impossible to move through the streets without being jostled and pushed. The excitement was so great that it was almost impossible to control the crowd. The people were so excited that they were almost hysterical.

MORTON ELECTED.

He Receives a Large Majority on the First Ballot.

Chandler of Mississippi completed the nomination of Morton. The roll-call of states was completed, and the convention was about to proceed to a call, when Morton withdrew his own name. He said he wanted no office, but desired to be a free citizen. He was then elected by a large majority.

The convention then proceeded to ballot, with the following result:

THE NEW THEATRE.—Col. J. M. Wood, the well known theatrical manager, has a long conference with Manager J. P. Howe of the New Park, and with the gentlemen who propose to build the new theatre here. For sufficient reasons is not necessary to make the matter public, but the writer has no hesitation in saying that should the site now in contemplation be located on the Portland public will be remarkably well pleased. A better location could not be desired. The plan for the structure, and this much can be said, it will be handsome.
Of later design, the auditorium on the ground floor, with numerous exits, and as found in the Taylor street church, and for an hour and a half, with satires, humor and flashes of wit and bursts of eloquence, entertained and delighted the people. So popular was the lecture, "Shells and Shobbery," Col. Copeland is a natural orator, speaking without manuscript or note, but with brilliant rhetoric and a fine audience.
He will give his celebrated lecture on "Handsome People" to night, and the "Mistakes of Bolshoi" on Wednesday. Col. Copeland is a native of Pennsylvania, has traveled 60,000 miles, and lectured nearly 200 times in the last year. Those who go to hear him will enjoy a rare treat in intellectual treats presented to the people of Portland for years.
FIVE CATTLE TO TILLAMOOK.—Tillamook county is coming to the front in every way.
It has lately got a newspaper, and is rapidly becoming a desirable immigration and improving in every particular. Now they are to have some fine stock shipped over, as Mr. A.
D. Tull has purchased a lot of fine cattle from Darham, Bull, Gen. Knox, and sent him over there. Mr. John P. Brigham has also bought a very fine young bull, and Mr. G.
Knox, which he has sent over to his ranch at Nestucca. Two such fine animals as these will soon effect a marked change for the better in the stock of Tillamook county.
There has long been large quantities of butter shipped from Tillamook, and Mr.
Johnson says his season expects to see some of the best cattle coming from there.
DEATH OF A PIONEER MINISTER.—Rev. J. O.
Rayor, for many years a resident of this state and the pioneer minister of this city, died at San Mateo, Cal., on the 18th inst.
He came to Oregon in 1847, when he resided until 1852, when he entered the U. S. army as chaplain. After a few years' service at that post he was removed to St. Louis, where he remained for several years. He was born in England and came to this country when a lad of 6 years. He was a good and useful man, and many Oregonians will regret the loss of his life.
NOT WORK SUGGESTED.—Several merchants on Front and Morrison streets have suggested the plan, by which the traffic on these streets will not be interrupted during the construction of the new bridge. The plan is to put on a large force after business hours (between 7 P. M. and 6 A. M.) and push work through each night until completed. As the streets are greatly obstructed during business hours, the interruption to workmen will be greatly lessened. The suggestion is being considered by the city council, and it is likely that the plan will be carried out.
MAKING THE WAY TO THE SEASIDE.—Secretary Strable of the Immigration board received a letter from E. W. Brady of Davenport, Iowa, yesterday, who inquired what encouragement Portland would give him if he started a window shade factory here. A plan of Chicago sent to the company in time which can be saved if the plan for night work is carried out.
